

<question> Read the text and answer the question.

Family relationships are often complex and unique. Parents, such as mothers and fathers, provide care and support for their children. Siblings share special bonds and experiences as they grow up together. Extended family members, including grandparents, aunts, and uncles, also play important roles in our lives. Stepfamilies introduce new connections, such as stepmothers and stepfathers, who can bring additional love and support. These diverse ties create a rich tapestry of relationships that help shape who we are.

<question> Read the text and complete the sentence.
A mountain climber

Four thousand climbers, aged between 13 and 80, have been to the top of Everest.
Gerlinde Kaltenbrunner from Austria fell in love with climbing as a teenager. When she left school, she worked as a nurse and climbed in her free time. Starting with Everest, she has been climbing all the world's fourteen peaks over 8,000 metres. To increase the challenge, Gerlinde climbs without using oxygen tanks. Low oxygen levels can make climbers ill, so Gerlinde has to climb slowly. Gerlinde is passionate about Nepal and raises money for a charity for poor children and orphans there.

The education in Kazakhstan is conducted in two languages -Kazakh and Russian. The constitution prohibits any discrimination on the basis of language and guarantees equal rights in education regardless of nationality. Secondary education is compulsory in Kazakhstan. Children start school at the age of 7 and finish at 17 as rule a child attends the school, located in the neighborhood. However, in big cities there are so -called special schools, offering deeper studies of the major European languages (French, English, German) or the advanced courses in physics and mathematics and children, attending one of these may have to commute from home.

1	There are equal rights for education in Kazakhstan regardless of the nationality
2	Education is conducted in three languages French, English, German.
3	The secondary education is not compulsory and child can attend school whenever he wants.

Despite being a lifelong pacifist, when the Second World War began, Albert Einstein worked on Navy weapons systems. Surprisingly, he was not invited to join the government's atomic weapons research programme, even though it was his work that had led to their development. This may have been because the FBI was suspicious of his political beliefs. After the use of atomic bombs against Japan in 1945, he joined a group of physicists working to limit the use of these terrible weapons.

Why wasn't Einstein invited to join atomic weapons research programme in the USA?

<variant>American people were suspicious Einstein's political believes.

<variant>Einstein was not interested in atomic weapons.

<variant>Einstein had no enough time as he worked on Navy weapons.

<variant> Einstein was not living in the USA that period.

<variant>Einstein was living in Japan and he was far from the USA.

<question> Read the text. Are these sentences true (T) or false (F)?

Water is very important to all living things. Man gets one half of his water in the food he eats, especially in fruit and vegetables. More than 70 per cent of the body is composed of water. Daily we lose some water. The human body gives off about 5 pints of water every twenty-four hours through the lungs, sweat glands and kidneys. We must replace it. If 10 per cent of the body water is lost without replacements, there will be serious signs of illness. If 20% of the body water is lost a person may die. The maximum time that a person can go without water is about 7-10 days.
