

Catalog of elective disciplines

Department: "social health insurance and public health"

Education level: college

Educational programs: "Paramedicine"

Course: 4

Elective subject name: "Social Medicine and health management"

Number of credits: 1

Purpose: to train competitive specialists in the field of public and individual healthcare, who are able to critically analyze and adapt trends in healthcare development in foreign countries to the national healthcare system; to promote the development of communication skills to create and maintain proper relationships when working with socially vulnerable groups; to provide students with a set of knowledge, skills and abilities necessary for effective work in the healthcare system, transformed taking into account the introduction of compulsory social health insurance.

Discipline content: Basic concepts and categories of social medicine. Social medicine and social work. Definition of social medicine. Tasks and functions of social medicine. Subjects and objects of social medicine. Development, object, tasks and methods of social medicine. Structure, functions and methods of social medicine.

Tasks:

- training in a methodological approach in order to preserve, strengthen and restore the health status of the population;
- formation of proposals on medical teams and medical and preventive care for the population;
- analyzing information about the health status of the population and providing knowledge about the results of medical and preventive care and improving the effectiveness of medical and preventive, sanitary and preventive institutions, as well as improving the quality of preventive measures;
- analyzing information about the health status of the population and providing knowledge about the results of medical and preventive care and improving the effectiveness of medical and preventive, sanitary and preventive institutions, as well as improving the quality of preventive measures

Justification of the choice of discipline: Basic concepts and categories of social medicine. Social medicine and social work. Definition of social medicine. Tasks and functions of social medicine. Subjects and objects of social medicine. Development, object, tasks and methods of social medicine. Structure, functions and methods of social medicine.

Learning outcomes:

- Factors shaping human health (social, environmental, climatic, genetic);
- Socio-economic diseases associated with unfavorable conditions, climatic factors and related health-improving measures, increasing anti-smoking activities that have an adverse impact on the environment, improving health and physical condition, improving working capacity,
- Fundamentals of the application of statistical methods for studying the health status of the population and the organization of medical care;
- The main indicators of public health. Criteria for a comprehensive assessment of the patient's health status;

Prerequisites: general hygiene, fundamentals of economics and law in healthcare Post-requirements: electronic system in healthcare, medical and social rehabilitation Literature:

Literature:

1. Reshetnikov, A.V. Medicine aleumettanuy: okulyk / A.V. Reshetnikov ; edited by T. K. Rakypbekov ; Kazakh. tiline aud. by A. M. Markabayeva; zhauapty edited by T. K. Rakypbekov.- M. : GEOTAR - Media, 2015. - 288 bet. p .
2. Bigalieva, R. K. "Social medicine and health management" okulyk / R. K. Bigalieva. Almaty : Evero Publ., 2014. 560 bet. p . Additional information: Reshetnikov, A.V.

Medical and sociological monitoring: a guide / A.V. Reshetnikov. Moscow : GEOTAR - Media, 2013. 800 p. [Electronic resource] : textbook / A. V. Reshetnikov. - The electron. text data. (40.8Mb). - Moscow : GEOTAR - Media, 2017. - electronic. wholesale. disc (CD-ROM). Reshetnikov, A.V. Medical and sociological monitoring [Electronic resource] : manual / A.V. Reshetnikov. - The electron. text data. ((43.8 Mb). - Moscow : GEOTAR - Media, 2017. - electronic. wholesale. disc (CD-ROM).